

WARNING:

This document will contain sensitive subjects like:

- Grooming
 - Pedophilia
 - Mental health
 - And potentially more
-

Intro

Also, please read all of it before you come to a conclusion on your judgment.

To help avoid more misinformation and mistakes, I would recommend reading all of this document when you can. To help make a better personal opinion. That is all.

The Dee/Sarah Situation

This has some history, so buckle up.

During my other situation, I was brought into another server that was the Revie/Faker Fan Server, that is now (from the time I left the server) known as EXE Misfits. I was in public calls a few times, meeting with some people, who considered me their new Faker voice. I got to meet a lot of people and got to be introduced to a new “family,” you could say. One of those people was Deez Nuts A.K.A Sarah. I will be calling them Dee for simplicity sake.

Now Dee and I got to talk in DMs a few times, and potentially gain an interest in each other romantically at the time. She was 16 and I was 18. We tested the waters and thought about it for a while. But in the end, I felt like there were moral problems. Mainly about the age gap during that time. Deeply, I still felt like

I had an interest in her. I sadly couldn't express it, because of fear of the age gap. Then, Dee and Blu started dating. Which I didn't mind, nor cared, and ignored it for the most part. I did congrat them though. And all was well for them.

The main situation started when I was on the misfits server and was chilling during early February 2023. I saw Dee move to another chat, because it was too noisy in the main chat. I felt bad, and wanted to try to make her feel better. I asked her what made her feel better, and she told me that the Lord X voice did. I decided to pull in my voice changer and voice Lord X for her, and she was happy. I even flirted with her a few times as jokes, and we enjoyed it. She also did some flirting with me as well, and thought we were having fun teasing each other. That's where I suggested going to DMs with her on call to be a little more intimate with her as Lord X. During that time, I have said to her that if she ever feels uncomfortable, she can tell me and I will stop whatever's making her feel uncomfortable. I said this quite a few times, out of respect that I don't hurt her at all. After a little bit, I told her good night, and it kinda ended there for the moment.

It wasn't brought up, until PenUmbra brought it up to me in DMs, and I admitted to doing the calls, and some of what was happening during that time. PenUmbra told me if I realized what I just did. I was in a corner, and so I felt like I unintentionally hurt her, and unintentionally caused pain and manipulated her mental health. Without thinking about what happened. I felt horrible, and PenUmbra talked to me more about it, and said that it's best to talk to Blu as well.

Blu came, and they were not happy for the right reason. I told them that I was sorry and that I had no intention to cause any harm to Dee or the relationship. He told me to apologize to Dee, and think about what I have done. So, I went to Dee's DMs and told her that I was sorry, and I regret doing anything with her that caused her harm. That was how I ended it. And removed them from my friends list.

As PenUmbra started talking more publicly about it, I couldn't defend myself at that time, due to my mental stress, and some truth that was behind it. It wasn't worth it to go through the same stuff again. I was sick of it. So I left all my servers and planned on deleting a few servers. One of them, now owned by a close friend.

I did plan on making a side account on Discord, but due to someone leaking it, I left it and also deleted it. Afterwards, I thought it was best to leave Discord all together. Not just that. Delete Twitter, YouTube, and more. Some gaming stuff was turned private, as I wanted to still play my games to release the stress that was happening.

Now that my side of the story is said, here's the only things I can defend myself on.

First, NSFW images were never sent to each other ever in DMs. I have never sent a nude, an NSFW drawing, or anything like that ever. I can't remember if I even did at all, but I think I never have done so.

The only things that were NSFW was the call, and some texts sent to each other. Yes, during our sexual call too in DMs. But no images were ever solicited. I have even asked if I ever made them uncomfortable, and they never told me that they were.

Second, the age gap. The age gap during our time around is around 2 and ½. Now while that can still be seen weirdly, it's also on high school levels of age gaps in the world. Again, depends on where you're at.

Third, state age of consent. In states, there are age of consents that run about 16. Where I live, that is the case. Where Dee lived at, I don't know. It entirely depends on the state laws she has. Despite this defense, there are rules/laws that may say otherwise, so take that with a grain of salt.

Despite my defenses, I still feel that I had faults on my behalf. I shouldn't have called her for some sexual stuff, especially if she was in a relationship with someone else. I should have never requested her to go to DMs or pushed our talk further. I should have never done anything with her at all. I still regret it a lot, and hurt so much more than what I thought of, but to Dee, I think I may have done more damage to. I am still sorry to Dee and Blu for everything I had done.

Other Accusations, Situations, and More

Now, I know that there are many more things where that came from. I am aware of what other people are saying, and I am wanting to try to bring most of them here in this short section.

Some situations and accusations including:

- The Diaper Boy Incident (A year ago)
- Lying of Age (Over a year)
- The “Sex and Breed” comment
- Other people’s experiences
- Robo Situation
- Jasper/Kenji/Lucy Situation
- SillyRaeRae Situation
- NSFW Audio Leak of Faker X Skyblue

And maybe more that I have potentially had in the past, or heard about through word of mouth. If I do not remember anything that had happened, then I apologize to the people involved with them as well. There’s too much that went on in my life, that it’s too messy to even try to dig through every single little thing that I have done. Just because they aren’t mentioned, doesn’t mean that I am not going to respond to them. They are still a part of my past, and I need to talk to the ones that were involved and affected so I can tie up loose ends, fix it, or give them a personal apology.

Now, the reason I am bringing these up is because there is a lot in my past that I am not proud of at all. I brought them up, no matter true or false, as I feel there's a lot I have on me that I still need to repair, discuss, and move on from.

All of these situations I had explained to my therapist after everything that happened. While I do not want to discuss these private therapy sessions, I will say they are giving all the advice and help I need to better myself, and help me with everything I can.

Being slightly popular online was one of the reasons why I thought things wrongly. The other reasons were both personal IRL problems and being clinically online since I was a little kid. I learnt too many things as a kid, and had scarred myself with some of it. I don't want to excuse anything with that, but there's potential influence that has happened. I don't know.

I want to use this as a huge learning lesson. To be a better me. I fucked up and pushed myself to rock bottom, but I think after everything, there's always a way up, and a way to better ourselves in life. I need more time to improve even more, and quit habits that cause me to be in my own thoughts, because most of everything is my fault.

I do know that there are videos, memes, and more about me already. While I wish there were more serious posts, I did expect that there were going to be some memes. I haven't looked into the videos for personal mental health reasons. I want to focus on what I can do now to help myself and explain what I need to explain. Even though I never watched them, I might give it a watch in the future when I am not that scared anymore.

I don't want to announce any "big return" event, or any of that. It's not of mine or anyone's interest to do that after all that has happened. The "Infinite Jr." Name, handle, and persona is something I had put in the grave. I would rather be under a different name, doing better things with others, and learn from all that has happened. It needs time. I do not know how long, but I will take as long as needed to fix anything I can repair.

If possible, I would personally like anything about me, the name, and those related to at least calm down. I want people to remember, and not forget anything that has happened back then. But I want people to stop fighting others over my name, and people garnering attention for the wrong reasons (ex: trolls).

My Final Responses

There are many things I want to say to my former friends, workers, families, and more. That putting this in the doc would be bloated enough for others. So I have a second doc, giving my final words to some of the people I have known in my life online. So I recommend clicking below if you have known me. I may have a response to you.

Click here

Fake Accounts & More

From what's been said from my friend, there has been an account that people have been guessing that was me. And that I had got the police called on me. Potentially getting arrested as well. Well, that is not true at the slightest. That account was not made by me, and is a troll account used by some random kid. They are using my PFP, sure. But it was never me in the first place.

I have said that I deleted my Twitter and never planned on a return during that time (No, this account does not count as me returning). I know that there are potentially many other accounts made to mock, pretend, or say shit on me. But they are just troll accounts wanting to get attention from drama and situations. To be honest, it's expected. While distasteful, stressful, and disrespectful to me and a few others, I can't stop them from doing shit like this. That's how the internet works.

I would also like to explain other accounts left up on other websites. Before anyone else accuses me any further, I have a few reasons why they are left up.

1. I forgot to delete the accounts, and keep forgetting to do so/can't remember which accounts they are.
2. They are my gaming accounts, so now I keep them private for me and my closest friends only. I want to take my mind off shit like this.
3. They are accounts that's not social media, so I am changing them to be private to only me.

I am not planning on going anywhere with these accounts. They are either gonna stay private, or just left to rot and die.

Before anyone throws anymore accusations. Any other accounts that say are me, ARE NOT ME. Stop spreading lies that say, or have "hints" that they are me. Please? I'm not getting arrested and put in jail.

My Final Words

After this document is released, I am going to log-off the burner account I used to post this doc. I will spend time focusing more on myself and my work. I am going to get lessons through life and therapy. I hope to better myself in the future.

The haunting guilt of myself, my past, and the persona I have made is going to be sticking around for a long time. Same can be said for any others around me. I no longer want to be known as that Jackal anymore. It's why I gave all the characters I made away.

All the characters I made have been given away to other people.

- Infinite Jr. (Both persona and character) has been given ownership to Natalie Masuku and The ALTLAS Team
- Malthulu has been given ownership to Jasper/Kenji

- Kaida has been given to OnyxGalaria

Anything involving the characters are no longer mine. They will do whatever the hell they want with them. It's their babies now. Not mine. I will also say that all of them have been redesigned to fit the new owner's theme. Also, please do not attack them for having ownership of the characters. Common sense people!

My last contribution in the FNF/EXE community, I have gave a donation to the SAVE-A-SOUL charity (Or the Non-profit Organization relating to it), to help prevent child abuse in America. I know this will not get people to forgive me, but that is not my intention. I feel like I want to finally give back to the community for what I should've done and not let anything be wasted from this.

Thank You, Infinite

Infinite Jr.,
We received your gift of $51.43 on Saturday, April 8, 2023 at 1:18 AM.

Whatever you think now, whether if it's you seeing forgiveness, want to forgive me, believe in another chance, or say fuck all of that and watch me burn in hell is entirely up to all of you. No matter who it is. No matter how close we were. You are all entitled to your final opinion. I still thank you all for the journey I had.

Also, don't try to get in contact with me through this account. This account is nothing more than a burner to post this doc. To those trying to get in contact with me for the sake of doxxing, harassment, and threats. Leave me alone. Please.

I know someone's gonna ask, or wonder about this, no. I am not returning to the internet as Infinite. I am not gonna return as anything soon. I have problems I need to deal with, and it's better to deal with it in a private life than to stay on the internet and fight it. It was honestly the best decision I made in my life. I am sorry for the disappointment and pain that has happened to everyone I was friends with. But now I have my grave, and I gotta lay in it.

Goodbye.

- Infinite Jr. [VA]

P.S.

The intro audio was made, mainly as proof that it is me, and not some fake making a fake document.

UPDATE:

I have forgotten to remove everything about Natalie having contact with me and being a messenger. She wants nothing to do with me now, and left me behind. This was a few days ago, and it slipped my mind. Please do not give her shit for having contact with me. She no longer does. I am sorry for that.